WASHINGTON, DC (February 17, 2012) - Today, the US Business Leadership Network (USBLN[®]) announced that in the spirit of continuing to strengthen the USBLN[®] operations they have welcomed two new Consultants to the USBLN[®] organization. The USBLN[®] is growing an incredible team that is focused on improving services to their corporate members, affiliates, certified disability-owned businesses and all stakeholders.

The new team members include Mylene Padolina, Youth Initiatives Program Manager and Cami Turcotte, Administrative Consultant. To learn more, feel free to visit their "Our Team" webpage.

"I am highly honored to have Mylene and Cami join our team. Both of these individuals are incredibly talented and driven by the mission of our organization and we are very pleased that they have chosen to work with us," shared Jill Houghton, USBLN[®] Executive Director.

Mylene Padolina, Youth Initiatives Program Manager

Mylene has a passion for supporting underrepresented youth in their journey from school to work and champions the importance of career exploration and mentoring activities. In her previous role as Sr. Diversity Outreach Manager at the Microsoft Corporation, Mylene directed successful pipeline development programs such as the global DigiGirlz High Tech Camps and the high school internship program. Mylene brings over 20 years of experience in human resources, community relations, program management, leadership development and coaching. She partners with private employers and non-profit organizations to successfully create diverse and inclusive workplaces, programs and leaders. Mylene earned a B.S. in Marketing from DePaul University. She has also attended leadership development programs through organizations such as WOMEN Unlimited and Leadership Education for Asian Pacifics (LEAP). Mylene enjoys traveling across the world to experience diverse cultures.

Cami Turcotte, Administrative Consultant

Cami is focused on organizing and implementing on-going business operations. Born Camala "Cami" Marrero in Palm Beach County, FL, she spent the first 29 years of her life in the "Sunshine State." Cami attended Florida State University in Tallahassee, Florida, and graduated with a B.S. in Criminology. She has worked primarily with law firms the majority of her career and also brings her extensive accounting experience to the team. Cami's husband is Active Duty Military, in the aviation community which brought them to the D.C. area in late 2006. They have two boys, ages 2½ and 4½.

About the US Business Leadership Network® (USBLN®)
